

Heathrow Medical Services

With over 20 years of experience in the field, we are a leading provider of professional Occupational Health Services and Specialist Medicals.

We aim to offer a bespoke and highly personalised service to all of our clients, irrespective of whether you are an individual or a large multinational corporation.

Based next to Heathrow Airport, our team have built a reputation of excellence in providing a comprehensive range of occupational health services and specialist medicals – for immigration, aircrew, airport and oil & gas employees.

Aviation Occupational Health Services

Statutory medicals to meet all major aviation standards including EASA and CAA

Our fully qualified and authorised doctors can provide statutory medicals to meet EASA and CAA standards for pilots and ATCOs, as well as the standards of the major international civil aviation authorities including CASA, Canada and GACA. We also provide pre-employment and periodic medicals for cabin crews specific to each airline's requirements.

Having evolved to becoming a leading provider of aviation occupational health services in our area, we take pride in offering a comprehensive range of bespoke and personalised services for airport personnel in a competitive, reliable and convenient way.

Bespoke Aviation Occupational Health Services that will reduce your costs

Based on a close working rapport with HR managers, we offer a personalised relationship with 'open' telephone access and advice from our healthcare professionals, something many corporate providers are unable to replicate.

Aviation Occupational Health Services at your convenience

We offer a flexible choice of services and are happy to work in a way that is most convenient with you. Adjacent to Heathrow Airport, we have our own car-parking facilities and a link to the Terminal 5 shuttle bus, making it quick and easy to visit us.

Occupational Health Services

Personalised Occupational Health Services

Irrespective of your size, every organisation can increase employee productivity and reduce staff illness via a proactive approach to occupational health.

Designed to help HR managers comply with all relevant employment legislation and to assist you in screening employees throughout their working life from 'recruitment to retirement', we take pride in offering a comprehensive range of bespoke and personalised services in a competitive, reliable and convenient way:

What Our Clients Say About Us

“We have always used Heathrow Medical Services and are extremely happy with the services that they provide. They are friendly, prompt and professional and always happy to help and give advice. They accommodate our needs and requirements which is a comfort to us as a big organisation”.

Servisair

“ANA and Heathrow Medical Services have had a working relationship since a few months prior to the opening of our UK Base in May 2001. During that time, the team at Heathrow Medical have managed all the Pre-Employment, yearly check-ups and also irregular consultations for us. All members are extremely helpful, polite and friendly and never fail to assist us with any queries or requests.

“As a Japanese carrier we place great importance on efficiency, good communication and attention to detail. Heathrow Medical lives up to our expectations on every count, allowing us to ensure that our cabin crew maintain their health and therefore provide excellent service to our customers. ANA have every confidence in Heathrow Medical Services and have no hesitation in recommending their services to other carriers.”

ANA, All Nippon Airways

“We have used Heathrow Medical Services for a number of years to great effect. They understand the unique challenges within the airport working environment and provide essential services in a professional manner whilst being very accommodating in meeting all our requirements”.
